

PREFACE

A grocery shop chain by the name of Big Mart Retail is well-known for its provision of food and groceries delivery services. This project has used machine learning techniques for analysing sales dataset, prediction of bigmart products sales and use of streamlit framework for creating an API where we just pass the inputs that the model will just take the input & give you the output as prediction where the in between pre-processing is done by streamlit framework.